Produced by the City of Coral Gables
ILLUMINATE CORAL GABLES (ICG)

Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Sundays from sunset to 9 p.m. and Fridays and Saturdays between sunset and 10 p.m. through March 13.

ICG is lighting up the streets of our Central Business District. Illuminate Coral Gables (ICG), a new public art initiative focusing on the intentional use of light and technology to transform public art by day into magical and mysterious works at night, will be on view through March 14, 2021. Curated by Lance Fung with Catherine Cathers, Jennifer Easton and Rosie Gordon-Wallace, ICG, has been created for specific outdoor locations throughout Coral Gables. ICG’s eight projects include video projections, sculpture and art installations by a stellar group of local, national and international artists including Kiki Smith and Cai Guo-Qiang. Seven of the artworks are new site-specific commissions. ICG is a project of the Coral Gables Community Foundation. Make sure to come visit Illuminate and get a look at one of these beautiful moving pieces of art before they’re gone.

LIVE ART:

Joseph Clayton Mills

The Passage, 2021
30-minute film, 50-feet wide
A live stream of the film will be broadcasted in downtown Coral Gables.

Jonathan Perez

With FIU Students: Ari Temkin, Emily Silverio-Williams, Heather Kostrna, Jennifer Hudock, David Remmen, Emily Smith. The mirrored renderings will reflect light through a digital game of Bocce in the sky or to the ground for selfies by moving their device to create light and shadow patterns. A special feature will allow visitors to bring the image up to see what great public art should do. "This is the work that I am presenting for the 90 Miles project," says Perez. "It is the most exciting project of my career.”

Become an ICG Ambassador! Ambassadors will act as guides for ICG visitors and will be able to assist the team in making sure everyone has a great experience when visiting each piece. For more information and sign-up sheet visit volunteersignup.org/KFPA9
